In Case You Missed It...

September is a month that speaks directly to our mission. It is both National Service Dog Month, and National Suicide Awareness Month. We train service dogs to prevent veteran suicide. In our seven years of existence, we have a 99% success rate at suicide prevention. Prescription medications for PTSD can't say the same. And while we've been preventing veteran suicide, we've also saved the lives of hundreds of abandoned dogs, giving them a new purpose as a service dog.

To mark this month, we've been posting special, related content on social media. Be sure you're keeping up with our Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and LinkedIn pages - not just in September, but every month - for the latest program news to see what your support is helping us achieve. Thank you for being a part of our life-saving mission. We hope this month is meaningful for you, too.

"One Soldier's PTSD Story"

A warrior in last month's class draws sketches on a regular basis as a creative outlet to manage her PTSD symptoms.

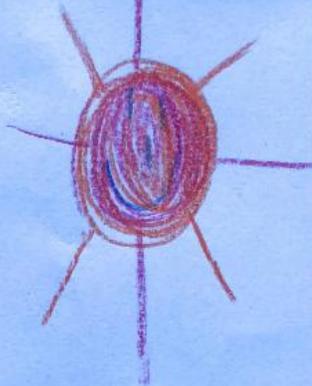

While in training at Camp K9, she drew these unique, contemplative scenes and posted them to her Instagram account.

Supporter Spotlight

One day recently, when our dog trainers were out doing public training with our future service dogs, a sweet little girl who had been watching them walked up and handed this to them. Talk about pulling at your heart strings!
